What is the issue? An electronic component in the brake servo which was not manufactured according to the specifications could corrode during the vehicle's service life and lead to functional issues with the brake servo causing a functional impairment of brake assist, ABS, electronic stability control and the speed indicator in the instrument cluster.

Full mechanical braking without brake boost is still possible but customers may experience increased brake pedal effort, hard brake pedal, an extended braking distance. In combination with the loss of ABS and ESC functionalities, this could increase the risk of a crash.

What will we do? To correct this defect, your authorized Audi dealer will replace the brake booster. This work will take about four hours to complete and will be performed for you free of charge. Please keep in mind that your dealer may need additional time for the preparation of the repair, as well as to accommodate their daily workshop schedule.
