Subject: Safety Recall 10H5 - Engine Design Cover

Dear Volkswagen Owner,

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act. Volkswagen has decided that a defect, which relates to motor vehicle safety, exists in certain 2022 model year Volkswagen vehicles. Our records show that you are the owner of a vehicle affected by this action.

What is the issue?

In specific driving maneuvers with high accelerating forces, the engine design cover may come loose. A loose engine design cover may come in contact with hot surfaces in the engine compartment. This may lead to melting of the cover material. Melted material that may come in contact with extremely hot surfaces (such as the exhaust turbo charger) could lead to a fire in the engine compartment.

What will we do?

To correct the safety defect, authorized Volkswagen dealers will remove the engine design cover from the vehicle. This work will be performed for you free of charge, and will take a few minutes to complete. Please keep in mind that your dealer may need additional time for the preparation of the repair, as well as to accommodate their daily workshop schedule.

At a future date, once updated engine design covers become available, Volkswagen will notify owners via first-class mail under a separate Service Action campaign and provide a replacement cover free of charge.

What should you do?

Please contact your authorized Volkswagen dealer without delay to schedule this recall work. To set up an appointment online, please visit www.vw.com/find-a-dealer.

Precautions you should take

If the cover has come loose, owners may notice a burning smell coming from the engine compartment or when opening the hood, or may recognize that the engine design cover has moved out of its position. Customers experiencing this issue should remove the cover themselves if it is safe to do so (engine compartment can be hot), or make an appointment right away with an authorized Volkswagen dealer to have the cover removed. A removed engine design cover should be brought to the dealer for proper disposal.
