(ECG)
3.5.2

One of the benefits of owning a connected vehicle is that your vehicle is able to receive Ford Power-Up software updates. These updates are delivered wirelessly to your vehicle to help ensure you're always up to date with the latest features and technology. This particular update will set you up for future ones to come. Think of it as the update that opens the door for the others to enter through.

Some updates will happen in the background while you are driving, if you keep Automatic Updates ON. But others require your vehicle to be turned off, which means you can't be behind the wheel. So, we recommend you set a recurring schedule so they can occur when you do not need to drive — like, while you're sleeping.

Simply go to your in-vehicle SYNC® settings screen and confirm you have Automatic Updates set to ON. Then select Schedule Updates to set your recurring schedule.

Again, these software enhancements are there to improve your vehicle's overall capabilities, including entertainment experiences and new vehicle features, so you know you're always driving the best version of your new Transit® van. Enjoy.
